

CHURCHILL MEMORIAL

Winston Churchill making his famous "iron curtain" speech in Fulton, Mo.

On March 5, 1946, Winston Churchill came to speak at Westminster College in the little town of Fulton, Mo. Defeated as Prime Minister of the nation he had led to victory, he was invited and accompanied by President Harry S. Truman. In his speech, The Sinews of Peace, Churchill warned: "A shadow has fallen upon the scene so lately lighted by the Allied victory. . . . From Stettin in the Baltic to Trieste in the Adriatic, an iron curtain has descended across the continent." The term "iron curtain" marked the beginning of Allied recognition of the cold war.

Churchill continued: "I do not believe that Soviet Russia desires war. What they desire is the fruits of war and the indefinite expansion of their power and doctrines." He then proposed a great Anglo-American alliance to protect the western world from Soviet policies. From this proposal the NATO alliance was born.

To commemorate Sir Winston's most important American address, a committee under the joint sponsorship of Presidents Truman, Eisenhower and Johnson has been erecting a memorial on the Westminster College campus. Fittingly, the memorial is a re-built London church, St. Mary Aldermanbury.

Originally built during the 12th century, the church was destroyed by the Great Fire of London in 1666 and re-built by Sir Christopher Wren, the noted architect. During the London Blitz it was again destroyed, this time by Nazi incendiary bombs. It has since stood in ruins—a symbol of resistance to tyranny.

Now it has been brought, stone by stone, to Missouri and is almost completely rebuilt. St. Mary Aldermanbury will serve as a non-sectarian chapel for the college and house in its museum-library a large collection of Churchill's works and memorabilia.

But most importantly it will symbolize the ideas Sir Winston stated so well:

"In War: Resolution
In Defeat: Defiance
In Victory: Magnanimity
In Peace: Good Will."

HOW TO WIN GRADES AND INFLUENCE PROFESSORS

Dear Kids: Who says teachers don't have a sense of humor? Dr. W. Curtis, an instructor in Psychology, wrote the following. I liked it so well I'm passing it on to you.

If you want to make a hit with your teachers—

1. Bring the teacher newspaper clippings dealing with his subject. Demonstrate fiery interest and give him timely items to mention to the class. If you can't find clippings dealing with his subject, bring in any clippings at random. He thinks EVERYTHING deals with his subject.

2. Look alert. Take notes eagerly. If you look at your watch, don't stare at it unbelievably and shake it.

Nod frequently and murmur, "How true!" To you, this seems exaggerated. To him, it's quite objective.

4. Sit in front, near him. (Applies only if you intend to stay awake.) If you're going to all the trouble of making a good impression, you might as well let him know who you are, especially in a large class.

5. Laugh at his jokes. You CAN tell. If he looks up from his notes and smiles expectantly, he has told a joke.

6. Ask for outside reading. You don't have to read it. Just ask.

7. If you must sleep, arrange to be called at the end of the hour. It creates an unfavorable impression. If the rest of the class has left and you sit there two tomboys. Answer to question No. 2: They'll happily adjust—unless they graduate to "steady" jitters.

Three years ago his staff consisted of one secretary, and the shows he was working on were tested in the dining room of his apartment.

Today his own Merv Griffin Show is seen in 85 markets. His firm produces Jeopardy and Reach for the Stars, both daytime entries on NBC. In April, One in a Million will enter the ABC-TV daytime schedule and Talk It Up begins syndication for Westinghouse.

With Alfred Treacher, a regular on his show, Merv has recorded, on the MGM label, English music hall songs in an album called "Alf and Alf."

On his show he interviews newsmaking people like Nicolai Fedorenko, the Russian ambassador to the United Nations, and Lord Bertrand Russell.

He gives new young talent a break and, from appearances on his show, Reni Santoni got the leading role in the film, "Enter Laughing." Sandy Baron wound up costarring in Hey Landlord; Laine Kazan wound up a regular on The Dean Martin Summer Show; and the opposition Tonight Show has displayed interest in booking acts off the Griffin show (Merv and Johnny Carson actually compete in only three markets: New York, Dallas and San Francisco). In Los Angeles, Merv's show is seen in prime time, and its rating beats network offerings.

Two questions I would like answered. Why did we have to sock each other to find out we were really okay kids, and how can we soothe our families, as they still have battle jitters?—MAUREEN (14)

Dear Maureen: Answer to question No. 1: If you care enough to fight, you CARE—once you'd cover you're girl and boy, not stratification of cattle. The alcohol and dry ice is used to get the branding irons cold enough to freeze a brand on the animal.

love to hear stories."

As a producer, Merv says profits in daytime television are better than in nighttime television. So the shows turned out by his East Side office, known as Griffin East, are aimed at daytime audiences. His own show is spotted in the daytime in many areas.

"That's what is so ideal with syndication," he says. "You can spot a show where the audience is."

One of the difficulties of a reputation for helping young talent comes from the fact that young talent is always trying to find ingenious ways to audition for Merv.

THE NATIONAL REPORT ON WHAT'S HAPPENING

SUMMER STAMPEDE FOR THE BORDER—TO STUDY: This summer some 300,000 students will travel outside the U.S. with the aim, at least in part, to study. Right now, with chill winds still blowing, is the hottest time to make plans—because ships, planes, accommodations, or groups and projects for skipping aboard are shaping up summer schedules. This summer there are special travel-study gimmicks for guys and gals: walking with a pack on your back and bunking in youth hostels (camps); living with foreign families (in half a hundred countries, from Europe to Japan); studying on campuses (mostly colleges and universities, overseas). If you're caught with the bug, opportunities exist from the ages of 15 and up . . . last from two weeks to two months or more . . . and can cost from $75 (tour of Canadian youth hostels) to $2,100 (Choate School travel seminar to the U.S.S.R.). Average dollar bite—probably around $750.

Take your pick from these four typical programs: 1.

communities and swapping

U.S. juniors to study and live with families in 30 countries abroad. 2. The Canadian Youth Hostels Association conducts two- to four-week canoeing, cycling, horseback-riding, hiking and camping tours through Canada and Alaska. 3. The Experiment in International Living arranges homestays for a month abroad for individual teen-agers, followed by informal tours of the country for a similar period. 4. The YMCA, through its Office of Educational Travel, offers a variety of foreign camper tours, work camp visits, home exchanges, and educational tours . . . keyed to suit almost any U.S. high school group. And there are a raft of others, including major programs of Youth for Understanding, Inc. (Ann Arbor, Mich.) and many public and private school and college projects.

To find out more, check with your school counselor, also church, "Y," etc. Or write for the information-packed booklet, "Students Abroad: High School Student Program"—free from the Council on Student Travel, Inc., Box Y, 777 United Nations Plaza, New York, N.Y. 10017.

SUGAR AND SPICE AND EVERYTHING NICE? Uncle Sam amplifies YOUTH BEAT's flash out of New York, last October, that for the first time in juvenile history, girls were running away from home to the Big City in greater numbers than boys . . . Now the Department of Health, Education and Welfare reports that girls' delinquency rate in 1965 rose nationwide 16 times faster than boys' . . . Chief charges against these flighty birds were running away and ungovernable behavior.

GUYS AND GALS RING THE BELL: The telephone bell! U.S. is the telephone bell-ringing country on earth—as many phones as all the others, and they're used more. Old adults probably believe that this outstanding record stems solely from young adult usage . . . there's some truth in that.

Ma Bell's (the phone company) latest study, just made available to us, shows your phoning is growing rapidly—today, those humming wires get worn by regular use among more than 40 per cent of you in U.S. homes . . . while only six years ago, this was only 33 per cent. What do phonophiles use the phone for? . . . First pleasure, then business: 65 per cent of you "just to talk"; 58 per cent of you about "school or homework, too;" 52 per cent to "make or change dates;" 41 per cent to foster "school activities;" 39 per cent for club and church activities. Significant conclusion: young adults glue themselves to that black, dumbbell-shaped instrument, like everyone else, to hear and be heard. In today's world, highly centered in mass communications, you are an insatiably communications-conscious group. And with whom? Would you believe it—girls get most of today's teen-age phone calls. They get 43 per cent; boys get 32 per cent; adults get 22 per cent. Proof that you are true phone aficionados—almost half of you want an extension phone in your own room . . . it takes, one boy said, "the walking out of talking."

WYOMING RESOURCES

Wyoming ranks second among states of the Union in uranium production, fifth in oil and ninth in natural gas. Its coal deposits could supply the entire United States for 300 years, according to estimates.

LATE SHOW SATURDAY ALSO SUNDAY & MONDAY

Rod Taylor and Jill St. John hold a romantic rendezvous in Nice in this scene from Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "The Liquidator". The action-loaded thriller, based on John Gardner's best-seller, unfolds the adventures of an average guy who is trained to become a hatchet man for British Intelligence, as represented by Trevor Howard. It's in Panavision and color.

Questionable

Veracity of the belief that bears, when attacking, hug their opponents and squeeze them to death is questionable. In an attack, the bear strikes around with its paws; the terrific strength of its weighty arms drives its claws deep into the body of its victim. To an observer, this might look like hugging, but in fact, is far from it.

Parents' questions often scare a date on his first visit.

WIN AT BRIDGE

Play Guards Against Trumps

By Oswald & James Jacoby
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

We finish our discussion of plays against ten spots with a standard safety play which has appeared in many bridge books and in every bridge column, including this one.

It will be well-known to many readers but we feel that there are enough people who don't know this play to justify repetition.

South is able to account for all the aces and kings by his use of Blackwood but settles for six in view of the possibility that his partner won't hold both the king and queen of spades. North is tempted to bid seven anyway because he has solid diamonds but North recalls that he has opened the bidding and given a jump raise, so North also settles for the small slam.

If South is alert, he makes the slam by the simple expedient of playing his ace of trumps at trick two. East shows out but this doesn't worry South in the slightest. He leads a second trump through West and holds West to one trick.

If South is a careless player, he leads a trump to dummy's king. Later South complains about bad luck because he isn't going to make his slam.

Playing at six, the king of spades is totally incorrect. The ace play insures the contract. The king play costs it any time West holds all the trumps.

SPORTS

Doughty Joins NEA Green

The newest addition to the NEA Sports Green is a former Marine who also is a former football player and coach, of sorts.

Roger Doughty served three years in the Marine Corps after attending Ithaca College.

While in the service he helped coach the Marine football team at the Naval Air Station in Brunswick, Maine.

"Once in awhile," Roger said, "when we were short a man, I'd put myself in the lineup at split end or flanker so I could be as far away from the bone-crushing as possible."

The only problem Roger had as a player-coach was finding someone to play quarterback. Finally, he found a quarterback "who couldn't throw the ball 10 yards with the wind at his back."

"Since I always played without my glasses," Roger continued, "I couldn't have seen it even if he could have thrown it that far. When one of our opponents finally discovered this, I became the most lonely end in the history of football."

Following his discharge from the Marine Corps, Roger joined the Poughkeepsie Journal as a sports writer. He was named sports editor in 1963. Then he joined NEA in Cleveland in 1965, moving to New York in January, 1967.

Roger, his wife, Gail, and daughters, Beth, 3, and Renee, 1, live in Tarrytown, N.Y., where there is plenty of open space and green grass.

Now all Roger needs is a football team and a quarterback.

Obituaries

EDWIN J. BAKER

Edwin J. Baker, former resident of Hope, died Thursday night in Hot Springs. He and his wife, the former Rena Acker of Hope, had lived in Hot Springs for many years. Survivors include his wife and a daughter. Services will be held at 1 p.m. Monday in Hot Springs and burial in National Cemetery in Little Rock.

RANDOLPH HADDIX

Randolph Haddix, 73, died late Friday afternoon in a local hospital. He was a lifelong resident of Hope. Survivors include two sons, Glen and Alford of Hope; two daughters, Mrs. Rudolph Hughes of Baton Rouge and Mrs. Keith Campbell of Pontiac, Mich.; four sisters, Miss Bessie Haddix of Hope, Miss Laura Haddix of Hot Springs, Mrs. Eddie Ward of Dallas and Mrs. Minnie Stout of Oklahoma City; one brother, Seth Crews of Hope, and 19 grandchildren. Funeral services are incomplete at this time and will be announced later by Herndon Funeral Home of Hope.

A thoroughbred race horse may eat six to 10 quarts of oats and 50 pounds of hay a day in training.

WHOOPS says New England College's Peter Bowes. Pete got a flag in his face when his ski caught the gate during this slalom run.

Consumers Are Getting More Of A Hearing In Washington

Lobbyists for various special interests have come up with a new word to describe the enemy. The word is "consumerism." It refers to the trend in recent years to protect the interests of consumers in general, which means all of us, in an increasingly complex and de-personalized economy.

One example of the trend is auto-safety legislation; another was the "truth-in-packaging" law that Congress enacted last year; still another were the stricter controls imposed upon the marketing of drugs and pharmaceuticals. Both President Kennedy and President Johnson named special advisers for consumer affairs, and now President Johnson has proposed to Congress consumer legislation that the special-interest lobbyists will no doubt view with alarm as "consumerism" gone wild.

Yet, from another viewpoint, the President's proposals are a measure of how unprotected consumers remain in the marketplace. His special message, entitled "To Protect the American Consumer," is a mixed batch of new proposals and old ones that have been kicking around for a long time. In the latter category is the "truth-in-lending" bill, which has been stymied in Congress for years. Its purpose is to clearly inform those who borrow and buy on installments just how much they are paying in interest so they can shop more intelligently for credit.

The President also asked for legislation requiring independent annual audits of private welfare and pension plans, full disclosure of their financial activities, and limits on the amount they invest in participating companies. This is likely to draw opposition from both industry and labor organizations. But it is badly needed legislation.

Taken as a whole, there was hardly a special interest left untouched by the President's message. He wants stricter controls of interstate sales of real estate to prevent misrepresentation of what is actually being offered; stricter regulation of the installation of interstate natural gas pipelines; a law to bring about better co-ordination of the activities of electric power utilities to ensure the reliability and efficient management of large generating units and high-voltage transmission lines; laws to provide more thorough inspection of meat destined for the retail marketplace; safeguards around the marketing of therapeutic materials such as artificial eyes, bone pins and X-ray equipment; and stricter regulation of clinical laboratories.

The President will be lucky to get a fraction of what he is asking at this session, but the der' why. If it was a fraud fact that he is asking at all is scheme, it was hardly worth the an indication that the voice of trouble. Two men say they gave the consumer is being heard in $1,215 to a man to make down the land and is being headed in payments on Southern California houses. No other money changed hands.

Davidson, 28, a slender, crewcut veteran of 10 years as an Army electronics technician, sat Thursday in his small apartment in Canoga Park, one of several suburbs dotted with aerospace company plants.

Fingering his contract, he described how a large advertisement in an Orlando newspaper attracted him, his wife and two daughters — and 19 other persons — from jobs near Cape Kennedy.

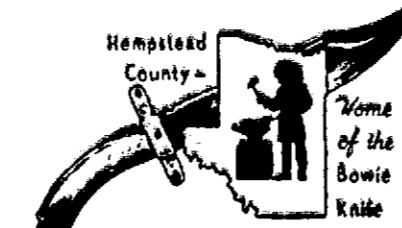

"We went through a regular interview. I was hired the first time. Everything was absolutely believable. All of us were hired as production supervisors. I signed the contract the 26th of October."

Davidson and the others were told they would set up a production line Feb. 1 in a 2,000-man plant near Newhall, 30 miles northwest of Los Angeles. When Davidson arrived here he drove to the Van Nuys address listed on his contract. It was an empty suite in a building housing an FBI office.

The national anthem had been played and the curtain was up. He learned who the other contractors were from the shaggy-haired Jagger — the contract-holders were from the cunting pop singer Marianne Faithful — rolled up to the main niture. There were nine then, entrance of the Royal Opera but one returned to Florida after two payless weeks.

Workers Can't Find Their Employers

By MICHAEL SHORT

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Warren Davidson held the three-page mimeographed contract labeled "Mara Laboratories, Inc."

It contained three signatures including his and promised him two years of lucrative employment.

Most students earn $8-$10 a week under a federal program that limits jobs to students from low-income families.

Student Tax Exemption

RICHMOND, Ky. (AP) — Regents of Eastern Kentucky University want the City of Richmond to exempt students who work part time at the school from a one per cent payroll tax.

President Robert R. Martin told the Town Council 1,200 students hold jobs that pay a total of $432,000 a year, but added "this is not spending money. This is the only way that many students have of staying in school in secret."

The 1949 Central Intelligence Agency Act says the CIA director may spend money "without regard to the provisions of law and regulations relating to the expenditure of government funds." He can do this on a voucher certified by him alone.

Nor does CIA have to report to Congress or to any federal department. It is an independent agency responsible to the President. It does give some information about its activities to a designated group of Congress members.

The secrecy laid down by law and practiced by the CIA is in the tradition of the spy business: for espionage to succeed, it must be kept quiet.

Thus the spreading disclosures about CIA payments are not to CIA's liking. And the publicity in each case means that even without the presidential order, CIA would probably want to end that disclosure.

In historical perspective, CIA is the postwar embodiment of government intelligence activities that date back to the earliest days of the Republic.

The main U.S. intelligence work was, until World War II, carried on by the armed services and by the State Department. The first four CIA directors after the war were admirals or generals.

But during the war, intelligence mushroomed into a huge and complicated business. New cloak and dagger outfits sprang up, most notably the Office of Strategic Services.

Surprisingly, reaction wasn't along sex lines at all.

The women didn't like the joke about Jack any better than the men did, and the men reacted negatively to the one about a woman's age.

Statistically, this trend held throughout Priest's experiments, he told an interviewer Wednesday.

Priest said he hopes his studies will lead to an increased understanding of the conflicts that arise in daily living and possibly help with psychological diagnosis of conflict situations.

"Apparently," he said, "the forces which join the opposing groups are stronger than those which divide them."

"It also appears that when a person is confronted by a member of the opposite sex, he tends to inhibit hostility."

Six Civilian Vietnamese Are Killed

By JOHN T. WHEELER
SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command disclosed today that six Vietnamese civilians were killed and 26 wounded in accidental shellings by American artillery of a village and a group of river sampans.

Announcement of the two incidents came as U.S. authorities clamped tight secrecy over the bombing by "unidentified aircraft" of Lang Vei village near the Laotian border Thursday. South Vietnamese authorities said 95 civilians were killed and about 200 wounded in that bombing. The U.S. command listed 83 killed.

All three incidents are being investigated.

Both of the latest reported incidents took place in the thickly populated Mekong Delta region south of Saigon.

The first occurred Wednesday in Dinh Tuong Province when a U.S. artillery unit accidentally sent 11 howitzer shells into Trung Luong village 30 miles southwest of Saigon, killing five civilians, wounding 24 and destroying 24 houses, the announcement said. No explanation was given for the delay in the report.

The second took place Friday in Canh Loc Province about 45 miles east-northeast of Saigon when an air observer requested and received clearance by the South Vietnamese army to call in artillery fire on a group of five sampans.

Most of us must hear the sounds to appreciate or to dislike them. Just as tastes vary in everything from colors to food, so a difference of opinion follows the variety of musical sounds. Because Americans have so many different cultural backgrounds from lands near and far away, their tastes in music varies greatly, too.

"American music," wrote Oscar Thompson, "partakes of everything that goes to make up America — ethnically, geographically, socially, and historically."

We might liken American music to a patchwork quilt. The plain calico in its bright colors are the patches of music which have been long-wearing in the hands of many, and though they may have changed slightly in appearance through much use, the "folk songs" are very durable. What of the more delicate pieces with silk thread running through them?

They, too, are long-lasting and are best-appreciated by those who know them.

Four Recall White House Memories

WASHINGTON (AP) — A foursome of "ex-inmates" — as Margaret Truman dubbed them — sat in the White House and discussed life there as they knew it. The pranks, the pressures and the "pinch-me" feelings.

Their memories spanned 62 years of life with father — the President.

And they ranged from the antics of "Quentin's gang" enraging his father, President Theodore Roosevelt, by firing splitballs at a famous painting, to Thursday.

In past years, some of the players have drawn protest from legislators and an occasional suggestion that they be referred to committee.

The Rev. William E. Crews, 34, an Episcopalian minister, is conducting what he calls a "lobby for God."

A selection from his recent prayers:

"Almighty God, we politicians are like pianos: grand, square, upright, but of no eternal use unless we are attuned to Your will and have the courage to put it into action."

"Almighty God, make us creative so that our actions will not burden future generations; make us conservative so that we will not squander the taxes of the people; make us perceptive so that we may properly weigh our necessities against the needs of others; make us liberal so that we may have concern for the welfare of all and the health and enjoyment of each."

"Almighty God, help us to remember that a straw vote only shows which way the hot air blows."

"Almighty God, who has given unto us the ability to reason our problems: grant us the courage to vote as we have reasoned. Forgive the animosity of the majority when we stand in the minority and let us never presume to equate numbers of votes with the will of God. We ask this in the name of one who never won a committee vote nor who was ever found among the majority opinion in His day."

"Almighty God, we who spend well over a million dollars annually at the races in this state and can't find money to build schools nor pay teachers a living wage, do ask guidance in matters financial through one who turned the tax gatherers into followers and caused a revolution, Christ Jesus our Lord."

"Almighty God, we have always known that heedless self-interest leads to bad morals; now give us to understand that it leads to bad economics too."

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Bishop Robert Brown, head of the Episcopal diocese of Arkansas, announced Thursday that he is going to celebrate holy communion every week and in up, most notably the Office of Strategic Services.

With the end of the hot war and the beginning of the cold, the intelligence functions outside of those that were strictly military were lumped in 1947 into a new agency, the CIA.

Today CIA is one of the federal government's biggest operations. Because of the secrecy, few people know just how large it is. Its subsidies for overseas student activities are only a fraction of the total.

By general acknowledgment

CIA's annual budget runs into hundreds of millions of dollars, most of it hidden in the multi-billion-dollar appropriations Congress votes for defense.

It probably employs several thousand persons, though here again the numbers are secret.

The CIA law provides for secrecy on "titles, salaries, or numbers of personnel employed by the agency."

It also appears that when a person is confronted by a member of the opposite sex, he tends to inhibit hostility."

It was a great vacation for me," said Barbara, but hard to adjust to her modest home afterwards.
